THE MINISTER OF WATER RESOURCES {SHRI ARJUN CHARAN SETHI) : (a) to (d) tn 1980, the Ministry of Water Resources, then known as the Ministry of Irrigation, formulated a National Perspective Plan for integrated water resources development through inter-linkages of several southern-based Peninsular rivers and the Himalayan rivers. The Government of India established the National Water Development Agency (NWDA) in 1982 as an autonomous society to carryout water balance and feasibility studies of the Peninsular and Himalayan rivers. The -Peninsular Component of the National Perspective Plan envisages inter-llnking of Mahanadi-Godavari-Krishna-Pennar-Cauvery-Vaigai. As per the water balance studies of various river basins of the peninsular Component conducted by National Water Development Agency, Mahanadi and Godavari river basins are surplus in water, whereas the river basins namely. Krishna, Pennar, Cauvery and Vaigai are deficit. It is. therefore, proposed to transfer the surplus water of Mahanadi which in turn will be receiving water from the Himalayan component and Godavari basins to Krishna basin by inter-linking Mahanadi to Godavari and Godavari to Krishna. The water, thus received in Krishna basin is proposed to be transferred to Pennar, Cauvery and Vaigai basins. NWDA has identified 9 links under this part of the Peninsular Component for preparation of feasibility report and has prepared feasibility reports for three links. Implementation of the water transfer links would only be possible if the concerned co-basin States agree to the water linkage proposal and provide other logistical support necessary for project implementation and availability of fund is ensured.
